

Association of the agriculture and the football

Professional football is the most popular sport in the world. The most important part of the game is the high quality field. It is very hard because these fields have been used every day, but have to be kept the high quality. When one of the fields need change, they use turfs or they change the whole lawn.