

Hungary's agriculture

The diagrams are parallel, they show us that the effects are the same.

Why Hungary's agriculture declines in 1990?

After the regime change the agricultural performance was largely reduced. The lack of capital has reduced the level of production technology. It became harder to sell products. All these factors have led to a decline in agricultural production

(Source: Mozaik Kiadó: Földrajz)

Hungary is favorable for agricultural production. But in spite of that we have to highlight two serious constraining force: the climatic conditions and the former economic policy.

(Source: Pénzügyi szemle)

